Congratulations! Your base star is Metal (7). This means that the base star element fulfills the proposed solution. This triple combination of Base Star, Mountain Star and Water Star neutralize the inauspicious influence created by the Flying Star. Thus, this is considered an auspicious combination.

Five Element Analysis (20-Year Star vs Year Star)

Analysing: Weak Metal (7) vs Weak Metal (7)

- Weak Metal (7) (Inauspicious Star) represents Broken Solider Star (Po Jun Xing) - Burglary, Violence, Fading Prosperity.
- Weak Metal (7) (Inauspicious Star) represents Broken Solider Star (Po Jun Xing) - Burglary, Violence, Fading Prosperity.

Relationship Analysis

Metal (7) has the same element as Metal (7). These two stars form the double (7). Thus, this is considered an inauspicious combination.

Proposed Solution

Make use of Fire (red) to destroy and control Metal

Activate Mountain Star

No mountain star to activate.

Activate Water Star

No water star to activate.

Combination of 10 Water Star Formation

Combination of 10 in this sector improves the luck in this sector

Sector Overall Summary

This is generally a considered an average sector however, it has an inauspicious star which makes this a less auspicious sector during this 20-year period.

According to the Eight House Chart, you are considered a South-West House Person. However, your Frontage is in the North which happens to fall within one of your bad sector (Death). This will bring you extreme bad luck. Therefore, this is a VERY INAUSPICIOUS HOUSE for you.

Sample Application of Flying Star Chart to your layout plan.

This is a sample of how you should divide your house into a 3 by 3 grid.

Divide your home equally into a 3-by-3 grid as shown in RED in the example below:-

and MATCH the Flying Star REPORT template grid to your layout plan

For an 'L-shaped' house, divide it into two rectangles and apply the theory to each of the rectangle

Tip on Renovating Your Home

If you are doing renovations for your home, check out Grand Duke's Theory (see below) First.

What is the Grand Duke's Theory?

The Chinese hold the Grand Duke in great esteem. The Grand Duke refers to the position of Jupiter in relation to each of the Chinese calendar year. For example in 1998, the year of the tiger, the grand duke is at 60 degrees or East-North-East:-

What's the benefit about knowing the position of the Grand Duke for each year?

You can improve your Feng Shui or take advantage of the Grand Duke by knowing the position of the Grand Duke for each year. This is because sitting opposite or facing the Grand Duke will bring you misfortune, calamity, disaster or defeat. Try to avoid renovations or repairs in the location opposite the Grand Duke.

The Grand Duke Theory can be applied to renovations and repairs to a house, office, building, a site, a city or country.

In addition, Chinese generals in the past made use of this knowledge in battle. In recent times, for example, during the Gulf war in 1991, which is the year of the ram, the grand duke was at the South West. Saddam Hussein's troops were at the North East while the Allied forces were advancing from the South West. Saddam's forces were facing the Grand Duke! The Grand Duke was with the Allied forces.

The morale of the story is not to confront the Grand Duke (facing him). Let the Grand Duke support you from behind.

How to improve your environment after knowing the Grand Duke Theory?

1. Avoid sitting in a direction facing the grand duke as this will bring disasters and grave misfortune in that year. For example, if the grand duke is in North Direction, then should not sit facing North.

2. Once you know where the Grand Duke is located for the year, avoid disturbing him by having any renovations or repairs in his location. For example, if the grand duke is in the North, avoid renovations in the North of your home/office.

What is the location in conflict?

This is the location which is in conflict (as found in table below) with the Grand Duke position. This location also changes from year to year.

How to improve your environment after with the knowledge of the location in conflict?

You should NOT have any renovations or repairs done opposite the location in conflict. For example, if the location in conflict is South, do not have any renovation done in the North Location.

Every year the Grand Duke's position changes (See table below)

Position of the Grand Duke and Location in Conflict for the next 10 years.

Year	Year of the	Position of Grand Duke	Location in Conflict
2019	Pig	North-North-West, 330 Degree	West
2020	Rat	North, 0 Degree	South
2021	Ox	North-North-East, 30 Degree	East
2022	Tiger	East-North-East, 60 Degree	North
2023	Rabbit	East, 90 Degree	West
2024	Dragon	East-South-East, 120 Degree	South
2025	Snake	South-South-East, 150 Degree	East
2026	Horse	South, 180 Degree	North
2027	Ram	South-South-West, 210 Degree	West
